

STATE OF RESUME TREASON-MURDER HEARINGS TODAY

Would Require Years to Try 140 Indictments Against Miners.

PASTOR ON TRIAL

Rev. J. E. Wilburn Faces Court on Charge of Slaying.

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., June 11.—The trials of the mine workers accused of murder in connection with the Logan and Mingo riots and invasion a year ago will be resumed tomorrow.

When William Blizard recently was acquitted the farming population of this community heaved a sigh of relief. They had expected to get back to normalcy at once. But State authorities were not convinced that the Blizard result was a true test. So they announced that Rev. J. E. Wilburn, of Blair, would face a jury, accused specifically of the murder of Deputy John Moore August 31 last on the Logan County border.

Plan Wholesale Trials.

Officials say the trial of Wilburn is only the first of a series, no matter what the jury says on the question of his guilt or innocence. They even further declare that there will be a trial of every murder and every treason charge here and the indictments returned before the change of venue was granted.

Rev. Mr. Wilburn was arrested in Tennessee last winter and has been in jail in Logan and Jefferson counties ever since. Seven other men are accused with him. The defense moved twice to have all admitted to bail, but in each case the court directed that it produce its evidence to show the degree of culpability, if any, and rather than expose the life of defense to prosecution the motion was withdrawn.

Five weeks of enforced seclusion on the part of the Blizard jury acted as a cure to the other quality. The members have been people who claim that they have formed opinions that might affect their ability to weigh the testimony impartially and return a proper verdict. Anyway, harvest is only three weeks away.

HAILS DEATH RATE DUE TO MOONSHINE

MUSKEGON, Mich., June 11.—"Physicians have given us the information that booze drinkers cannot live more than thirty days," said Mrs. E. L. Calkins, president of the State Association of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, addressing the Michigan convention.

Mrs. Calkins said the high death rate from moonshine is one of the chief blessings of prohibition. "It is pleasant to know that drinkers of this vile stuff cannot long survive," said Mrs. Calkins.

Agricultural Commission Raps Distribution Costs

Bread tells the farmer's "hard luck" story graphically, according to the findings of the Joint Commission of Agricultural Inquiry.

"Our inquiry reveals that about 50 cents out of each dollar the consumer pays for bread is absorbed in the cost of distribution," said Chairman Sidney Anderson, "while the farmer receives only 25 cents in the local market for the wheat needed to produce the loaves delivered. In 1913 the entire production cost was 44 cents and the distribution cost 56 cents. The present cost is based on average figures for 1913, 1916 and 1921."

are agreed that the decision, especially with regard to the suitability of unions, is going to change the course of organized labor more than any other single factor in years.

"It would seem, as a result of the decision, to be the part of policy of unions to become incorporated, even although under incorporation they may be directly sued and the funds directly attacked," said Jackson H. Ralston, counsel of the A. F. of L. "They would be no worse off in this regard than they are today under the decision in the present case, which decision undoubtedly will be followed throughout all the States."

MURDER SCANDAL MAY FORCE CHANGE IN BRITISH CABINET

Shortt May Resign as Result of Reprieve of Murderer.

LONDON, June 11.—Political and social influences have become so far involved in the sensational case of Capt. Ronald True, who was sentenced to die on a charge of brutally murdering a young girl and was subsequently reprieved, that the resignation of Edward Shortt, home secretary, is being suggested as the only step that can save the government from a vote of censure in the house of commons.

"Demand that 'Shortt must go,' mingled with suggestions that the influence of the nobility was exercised to save Capt. True from execution, are stirring up general excitement. A heated scene is anticipated in the house of commons Monday, when it is expected that questions concerning the manner in which the former lord was reprieved will be showered at the home secretary.

Medical Inquiry Follows.

Queries regarding the influence that prompted a medical inquiry followed after Capt. True had been found guilty by the jury. Inquiries were made as to the identity of the unnamed titled mother of Capt. True, who is said to have brought powerful influences to bear in having the death sentence set aside.

It is even suggested that the very terms of the government will be involved before the scandal is cleared up, although it is believed that Home Secretary Shortt will be sacrificed through his early resignation to avoid running the risk of a vote of censure in commons.

The opposition which has long been gunning for Shortt, is making every effort to capitalize the situation to its own advantage.

It has been years since London society was so stirred as it is over the True case and the story that he was the illegitimate son of a titled woman, who she had courted and then thrown an atmosphere of fascinating mystery around the strange scandal.

Unusually Revolting Murder.

The murder of which True was convicted, was an unusually revolting one, the young girl having been beaten to death after she had entertained Captain True in her apartment. During the trial the influence of the titled mother was widely commented on, though she kept in the background herself.

After the verdict of guilty was returned and the death sentence pronounced this mysterious woman began to enlist every influence her position could command to prevent the sentence being carried out. It was a result of her ceaseless activity that a medical board of inquiry was appointed. This board adjudged True guilty, but at the same time starting a scandal which has shaken London society to the bottom.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Mrs. Mary Knaus submitted to the temperamental outbursts of her husband, Herman Knaus, with the traditional patience of the faithful wife, but when he drove an ice-pick into her shoulder with such force that she had to call for outside aid, she removed it, the broke case, and the divorce was granted.

The divorce was granted on the ground of cruelty, although she insisted she could get along nicely on $10.

AMERICANS FIGURE IN GERMAN PLAYS

Berlin Opera Poets Turn to U. S. For New Ideas On Stage Lore.

BERLIN, June 11.—The German opera poets are turning more and more toward America for new ideas. A new play, much applauded, is "Inn of Love." The main figure is an American, hunting for liquor.

The German press and the man on the street seem to think that is the chief occupation of the American these days, when he is not scheming to rob some more or less innocent foreigner.

Along the latter line is the new opera, called "Girls of Davos." It is at the Central Theater, in Berlin. The chief character is a smart American business man who is trying to swindle a Swiss inventor out of his new motor.

The author quotes the American millionaire, conspiring with his engineer, as saying: "You're not much of an American if you can't cheat this man out of his invention."

Loud cheers from the German audience. "Perhaps, however, that doesn't make much sense," the author says, "of the millions, who by the way is named Smith, falls in love with the Swiss inventor, the audience cheers just as loudly."

This Smith millionaire therefore yields to his daughter's plea, gives her to the Swiss, with his blessing and 50 per cent of the stock in the company which is to make the motor. Nothing is said about any harvesters' stock.

At all events, the papers say the actors and actresses perfectly imitate Americans, and the money which the stage sounds like perfectly good American money. There is lots of dancing, pretty girls and everybody marries everybody else and all is joy.

Church Will Hold Festival.

A festival at the Church of the Transfiguration will be held Thursday and Friday, for the benefit of the victory fund. The entertainment will include carnival features, a radio concert, music by the Washington Boys' Brass Band and the Boy Scout Bugle Band.

BELIEF IN FAITH GO EXPOUNDED BY REV. WILLIAMSON

Asserts Real Oneness Exists Only in the Imagination.

By REV. W. S. LONG, Church of Christ Disciples.

Text (I John, 5:4): "This is the victory that overcomes the world."

The words "faith" and "belief" in all their reflections are found 605 times in the Word of God. We are creatures of faith, for almost all we do in this world from the first dose of medicine we take till the last day we are here is done by faith.

Love Lives by Outgoing and Response, Says Rector of Advent Episcopal.

REV. THOM WILLIAMSON, Jr., Rector of Advent Episcopal Church. Text: II Corinthians 13:14.—The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost.

A basic and fundamental teaching of the Christian religion is the unity of God. "The Lord thy God is one Lord," says the Lord's Prayer, and yet we teach the doctrine of the Holy Trinity—"three persons in one God." Some people cannot understand the idea of a trine God. And yet, think, is there anything in the whole wide world that is absolutely one? Not even one thing. Absolute and real oneness exists only in the imagination. And one God does not mean barren simplicity.

In fact, when the matter is studied, it will be found that variety in essence, variety in form, and very complex indeed. A tree is root, trunk and branches; one clover is of two or more leaves. Man himself is a most kindred, one personality and several natures, and many hundred kinds. We consider water, ice and steam as from one element, and even an atom has many faces. H2O is science for water. "Three Persons in water" is Christian theology for God. A map is not the country portrayed—yet it is the guide for that country. In theology we simply have to do the best we can with the words at our disposal.

Just think of some of the implications of this Christian teaching as to a Holy Trinity. How can even God be ethical—alone? We can only understand ethics within social relationships. And God does not require man, in order to be God.

Fatherhood of God.

We Christians look upon God as our Father. But when did the Fatherhood of God start? A Christian, who lived before He came to this earth, claims God as His father. Without this teaching as to the Fatherhood was always in God, starts only on the first Christmas morning, when the angels sang, "Glory to thee, O God, the Father, who art in heaven, whose kingdom is always in God. Man is not the beginning, but the expression, the showing forth, of God's eternal Fatherhood.

With this teaching we see that love is the abstract amounts to nothing. Real love requires more than one person. Love by its very nature lives by outgoing and response. The teaching of a Holy Trinity, with this teaching, we see that love becomes a Divine possibility. We, as social beings, are such, as emerging from God's life. And His self-revelation is in the direction of a Divine social life. The church, wherein exists ideally the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost.

Christ tells us that "the Father has loved Him." Is it not more than mere existence?

The Christian ideal is for the fullness of life—for close relationships, divine and human; for action and reaction, outgoing and response; for all powers functioning at their best.

Our God is a living God. He is neither remote nor merely abstract; neither is He a formless unity. God is the origin of relationships; and movement. The source of physical, mental, moral and spiritual life. He is affirmative, active, living—and loving.

The church did not invent the idea of a Father, a Son and a Holy Spirit. It is a Divine revelation. It is the irresistible conclusion of the teaching of the New Testament—the definite result reached by pondering the words not only of the Apostles and evangelists, but of our blessed Lord Himself. Christ directed baptism "in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." He says that He and His Father are one; and that both of them are in the unity of the Holy Spirit, to the believer in this world.

It is the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ that shows us the love of God and brings to us the fellowship of the Holy Spirit.

FAITH THE GREATEST POWER IN LIFE, SAYS REV. W.S. LONG

In Worldly Affairs, as in Spiritual, It Guides And Inspires Mankind.

By REV. W. S. LONG, Church of Christ Disciples.

Text (I John, 5:4): "This is the victory that overcomes the world."

The words "faith" and "belief" in all their reflections are found 605 times in the Word of God. We are creatures of faith, for almost all we do in this world from the first dose of medicine we take till the last day we are here is done by faith.

We walk by faith in the business world as well as in religion. Science and education, society and business depend on faith. The wheels of commerce move by faith. It would be a sad day in the world's history should we lose faith in each other. No one would take the physician's medicine or listen to his advice. Your checks and notes would be worthless; bankers and merchants would cease business, and panic and ruin would follow.

World Lives on Faith. Think for a moment what faith does for your progress and pleasure. Why does the journalist receive your advertisement and place your name on the ledger for a payment by and by? Why does the merchant deliver thousands of dollars worth of goods to the homes of this country, and then expect you to pay? I answer, it is faith. It was faith that won the war, and if we want universal peace so that all the nations of the earth will be at peace, we must have faith and real service to each other, let them trust God and cease to suspect each other, and peace will be sure.

Now, if human faith brings so much good to the world in temporal ways, then how much more will faith in God bring to the world happiness.

DR. TUPPER TELLS OF CHRIST'S GREAT LOVE FOR CHILDREN

First Baptist Church Crowded with Little Ones Occupying Pews Near Pulpit.

Children's Day was observed appropriately and beautifully at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning. The church was decorated with flowers; crowds of children, dressed in white, filled the pews near the pulpit.

Dr. Henry Allen Tupper preached a sermon on "Christ and Children." By touching anecdotes, by tender appeal, and by the character of Christ, His universal loving-kindness and His special interest in children.

When they were brought to Him by their mothers, the disciples objected, but He rebuked the objectors, took the little ones in His arms and blessed them. When children burst out in song of praise, in the temple, the high priests and scribes showed their anger and became impatient, but Christ quoted from the eighth Psalm that out of the mouth of babes and sucklings praise was perfected. At the seaside, after His resurrection, He told Peter if he desired to show love for his Lord, he must "feed his lambs."

He set a little child in the midst of them, and with a child as his model, he said, "Whoever will be first, he must be last, and who will be great, he must be the servant of all." He declared your life must be like a child's, in humility, in gentleness and trust, if you would enter the kingdom of God; and it would be better for a man to have a stone about his neck and to be drowned than to offend one of these little ones.

Shown Inspiration. Dr. Tupper showed the wisdom and inspiration that come from association with children, and insisted that the neglect of them in the home, church and social circle was one of the most fatal mistakes of our times. "The richest and most fruitful investment is the investment of your time, talent and treasure in childhood," said the preacher.

DECLARES CHURCH MAY FALL UNDER ITS OWN WEIGHT

Should Better Serve Community, Says Rev. B. H. Melton.

By REV. B. H. MELTON, Columbia Heights Christian Church.

The conception people have of the world in which they lived has always had its religious center. The tribe has its tribal religion. The petty state at war with surrounding states worships a narrow, cruel and vindictive deity. A fair generalization of the history of the past 1,900 years would be this: Whenever the minds of men have been broadened into a new world-view, this change of political and social outlook has invariably been paralleled by a broadening and deepening of the religious consciousness.

TELLS OF REVIVAL

Great Awakening Must Be Entirely World-Wide, He Declares.

What will be the result? If there is anything in history, then we may look to a new religious and industrial awakening parallel to and we hope penetrating the political, social and economic spheres.

World-Wide Revival. It must be in the truest sense world-wide, with no reservations. The new religion must be frankly and entirely human—not Eastern or Western, not cultured or uncultured, not scientific or unscientific, but human only in the sense that it is adequate to the prime needs of all men everywhere. Only the religion of the Divine Christ can do this. That is just another way of saying that it must be the religion of the only possible spiritual common denominator, namely, brotherhood, love and service. This new religion can't be anything save the only religion of the Man of Nazareth, who said: "A new commandment I give unto you that ye love one another."

It must be a unity. Only by united effort can we compass the tasks of the new world. Unity of command, aim and execution won the war against Germany. We dare not forget the lesson. The united church alone can win the war against social evils, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world. Not intellectual unity, but unity in the spirit, ideals, purposes, hope. Unity in one holy fellowship, in one body in Christ. "Denominationalism" is the besetting sin of our day.

Utilizing and magnifying the resources of the church in the world is the work of redemption. The day of the age-rocket evangelist is passed, never to come again. If the church is to live it must catch the spirit of the Master in serving and not in being served.

Used in Financing Church. Frequently the whole strength of the preacher and his church is used in financing the church, keeping our salaries paid, the janitor paid, and the church heated and lighted. The most of our work is to get the people to do something for the church, instead of making the church serve the community. There is danger of the church falling under the weight of its own machinery.

The revitalized church in this new day will inject its life in the social order, in politics, in business. It is nothing short of blasphemy to speak of this nation as a Christian nation as long as we have with us "6,000,000 plutocrats and 6,000,000 underfed children."

The "like a mighty army" until she gives more intelligent and constant attention to our black brethren. We compel them to live in haunts of vice and expect them to be as clean as angels. We close many doors of opportunity to them while we surround them with degrading influences. As Americans they have always been true to America in the hour of trial.

As Christians and Americans let us see the church in its re-
